

Basic Native Plant Garden--Full Sun

This garden would provide larval food for the Monarch butterfly as well as other butterflies and provide nectar across the season for many different kinds of pollinators. This garden has many of the most popular native plants, though some may not be available at our sale.

Plants are pint-sized, so they are young. It will take 2-3 years to reach mature size.

In the interim, annuals such as single-flowered zinnias can be planted.
